HONGKONG, MAY 25TH. 1894.

For more than fifty years the Chinese have been in daily intercourse with Europeans the matter and it is gratifying to be assured in Hongkong, have had full experience of that there is no likelihood of the Cade of the the principles by which British rule is regulated, and have had every opportunity of becoming acquainted with our moral and social systems; yet we flad the working class of the colony almost as ready as the notorious Hunanese to credit any foul Blander on the foreigner, as shown by the absurd and disgusting reports which have found eredence respecting the treatment of plague patients. We may flatter ourselves, when all is going smoothly, that by our business and social intercourse with the Chinese and the influence of our educational tiques the situation will become very serious. institutions we are are making a great impression on the hative mind and bringing it more into comformity with European methods of thought, but it only wants an smergency like the present to undeceive us on this point and show how superficial the the Government by a majority of fifty votes. impression really is. IMPERIAL QUARTO. DNGLISH AND CHINESE DICTIONARY. WITH THE PUNTI-AND MANDARIN PEONUNCIATION.

An Anglo-Chinese Dictionary, published at the Daily Press Office, Hongkong. For comprehensiveness and practical service this Work stands unrivalled. All the new words which the Chinese have of latey our been compelled to coin to express the numerous objects in machinery, photography, telegraphy, and in science generally, which the rapid advance of foreign relatious has imposed upon them, are here given in extense. Each and every word is fully illustrated and explained, forming exercises for students of a most instructive nature. Both the Court and Punti pronunciations are given the accents being carefully marked on the best principle hitherto attalas L. The typography displays the sneess of an attempt to make the Chinese and English type correspond in the size of body, thereby e feeting a vest economy of space, schieving a clearness not previously strained and dispension with those vast margins and recent spaces which have harstofore characferized Chinese publications.

To illustrate the Tast scope of the work the following facts are submitted for consideration:-Chalmers Vocabulary contains about 16,000 Chinese characters, and Medharst's English STEAM LAUNCH built of Teak Wood, and Chinese Dictionary about 100,000, whilst Copper fastened and Shasted with Munts this work contains prove than 50,000 English Motal is about 2 rests old sad is good as new I words and apwerds of 600,000 Chinese characlength 50 feet beam 10% feet depth of hold bees.
